PATRIOTISM AND NATIONAL PRIDE

'He who loves not his country, can love nothing'

- Lord Byron

Come August and there is a palpable excitement in the air at school. Yes, the patriotic fervour peaks as students get ready to celebrate the country's Independence Day, commemorating the day India became a free country on August 15 1947, and redeemed and renewed her tryst with destiny. Every Indian is filled with national pride and patriotic sentiments that find expression in celebrations all over the country.

What is this spirit we call patriotism?

Patriotism or National Pride is the feeling of love, devotion and sense of attachment we feel for our Motherland. It is the allegiance we owe to our country and the feeling we share with our countrymen and women that, together we can achieve more and we can take our country to the acme of greatness.

It was this profound patriotic feeling that prompted eminent cricketer M. S. Dhoni to pledge to serve the Indian Army in Kashmir by undertaking the duties of patrolling guard for almost fifteen days. He has made himself unavailable for the ongoing West Indies Tour, to be able to fulfil his commitment to his mother country. May his resolve serve as an example to all the youth of our country!

*I vow to thee my country,
All earthly things above,
Entire and whole and perfect,
The service of my love.

THE MOON

The moon is so beautiful,
It shines so bright like silver,
It has many shapes in a single night,
That make my heart quiver.
Sometimes it becomes full, half and crescent,
Leaving my mind upside and bent.
The moon looks like a ball sometimes,
It spreads silvery light in the night.
It reflects the sun's light,
Which is cool and bright.
The crescent moon looks like a cradle,
In the sky with many stars dancing around,
The moonlit night looks so beautiful,
Which makes me feel so peaceful and sound.

COLOURFUL BUTTERFLIES

I was walking through the garden,
When I saw a bunch of butterflies,
I was struck by their beautiful colours,
The beautiful wings and its vibes.
They were flitting among the flowers,
They were like a group of angels,
I felt I was in heaven,
I tried to catch them but they fly in a sudden.
I'll admire their beautiful colours,
I'll admire their beautiful wings,
But I'll never try to catch or keep them,
Because that is as good as committing a sin.

THE REWARD

Once, I saw my neighbour's wallet lying on the floor near their doorstep. "Oh, I want to buy some chocolates using this," I thought. I picked up the wallet and went to the shop. But as I was about to buy my favourite candy bar, something stopped me. "No, I cannot do this. I cannot betray my own neighbour's trust in me." I ran back home and went to my neighbour's house. I was nervous and hesitant. She had seen me through the window picking up the wallet. She wanted to check whether I will be honest enough to return it to her. On my return, I gave her the wallet and explained how I had got it. She was happy with me for being honest and as a reward she gifted me my favourite chocolate goody box. Honesty is indeed the best policy.

THE MAGICAL GARDEN

My magical garden is my school playground. It is always very exciting to go and play in it. There are also flowers like marigold, poppies and pansies. The sunshine falls on my garden and the flowers dance and sing happily. They say to one another, 'I have hundreds of little gardeners in this campus who share a smile with me'. They water my thirsty roots with their colorful gaze and innocent talks. My school playground is a place where I have shared the best memories with my school friends. We have played, fought, hugged and understood the real meaning of discipline and friendship.

PRESENTATION ON SOLAR SYSTEM

DMCS Vidyaranyapura students gave a presentation on the topic of Solar System in the morning assembly. They made placards and painted their faces with bright and beautiful colours to represent the Sun and the eight planets of the Solar system. A demonstration of the orbits of the planets around the sun and many other interesting facts were shared. An audience interaction session was also held. We feel so humbled when we realise that we are just a tiny speck on planet earth, which is part of the solar systems in the Milky Way Galaxy; one of the many galaxies of the vast Universe.

HOME FOOD VERSUS FAST FOOD

DMCS Vidyaranyapura students presented a powerful talk on Home Food versus Fast Food. The talk show was very informative as it revisited the fact that most of the fast food snacks are high on salt and fat and contain little or no nutritive value. They have added chemicals as taste enhancers and these are extremely harmful to health. They can be totally avoided if we adopt a healthy life style, by including plenty of physical exercise in our daily routine and eating a healthy diet of home cooked food that includes plenty of vegetables, fruits and nuts.

TALENT CORNER

“MUSIC IS AN UPASANA TO REACH THE SUPREME SOUL.”

I started learning music at the age of five. It was my mother who deciphered my talent in music. Everyone remembers their first guru. My first guru was Usha Maa'm - it was from her that my first lesson of music was learnt. Currently, I am learning Carnatic music, folk songs and devotional renditions. This would have not been possible without the encouragement given by my parents and school management. I have represented my Alma Mater at various junctures and have taken immense pride in that. Music is my heart and soul. God willing, I would like to take up a career in music as a vocalist.

Let's have equal space to express...

The Art of Argumentation - How to persuade by building effective arguments?

Language is an impressive achievement. We use language skills in our everyday life, when we speak, read, write or talk. We support our beliefs by presenting arguments that prove us right or wrong. The more solid the arguments, the higher our chances to persuade the others.

"Because I said so...", how many times do we hear ourselves saying this to our kids? Especially when we are questioned or confronted by them. How about instead of getting threatened by their questioning skills and shutting them down; let's give them an equal space to express. If we are able to do so we are not only empowering them with the ability to express but also, enabling their acceptability of respecting others point of view.

Often the word 'argument' is posed as a negative word. If we can guide our kids to see how it can be used as a positive tool while keeping the following points in mind:

- Arguments are not mere opinions.
- Arguments must be supported with facts, realities and experiences. It is also important to articulate consequences in the arguments.
- A good argument should ideally not end with 'it has always been like this...', 'you won't understand these things...'

Lets' use arguments as a tool to make sense of the world rather than a mechanism to force our thoughts and ideas on our children.

Don't raise your voice, improve your argument."

QUALITY INITIATIVE

"The virtue of honesty incorporates not to break rules and regulations, be disciplined, behave well, speak truthfully, be punctual and help others truly."

Our School Honesty Box contains stationery and chocolates wherein students drop in coins and pick up articles of their choice, without any restraint. The most astounding fact about this initiative is that the counter is completely unmanned. It is completely dependent on the honesty and conscience of the student to pick up the item of his or her requirement.
